The NYSCA Board of Directors has heard you.

On Friday afternoon, February 4, 2005, the NYSCA Board of Directors met in response to members' urgent queries to address recent developments affecting chiropractic, insurance reimbursement and the concerns of individual field doctor's and their ability to survive in the evolving health care reimbursement market in New York.

The Board of Directors examined various strategic options outlining what the profession could and could not do legally, legislatively and regulatorily to safeguard members' practices. What evolved were the seeds of a strategic plan to confront the urgent financial problems besetting chiropractic in New York.

The Board will continue to meet throughout the weekend to address these pressing issues. The elements of this plan are being fleshed out and will be released to the NYSCA membership early next week.

Watch your fax machine and/or your e-mail for a detailed outline of the NYSCA plan, or visit the NYSCA Website often.

What's at stake? The very survival of chiropractic.

Be prepared to act.

Get involved.
