Integrating A Wellness Consultation into Practice: Primum Non Nocera

Thomas R. Ventimiglia, DC, FACC
Saturday, Oct 17, 2020 | 10am-12pm | 2CE
Sponsored by NCMIC

The objective of this lecture is to introduce the practitioner to the idea that the traditional consultation can be transitioned into a wellness consultation by integrating a unique communication style that guides and empowers the patient to make lifestyle changes that support their health and well-being.

Dr. Ventimiglia, a 1980 graduate of New York Chiropractic College, was the dean of NYCC's postgraduate department from until 2019.

Evidence-Informed Assessment and Management of Musculoskeletal Disorders

Bryan Bond, DC, MS, Ph.D.
Saturday, Oct 17, 2020 | 12pm-4pm | 4CE
Sponsored by NCMIC

“Evidence-Informed Assessment and Management of Musculoskeletal Disorders” is a continuing education course for healthcare providers that frequently manage musculoskeletal conditions. Using current knowledge, including the appropriate application of active care and sound clinical decision-making tools, clinicians may optimize patient outcomes and promote a successful practice. In addition, a current understanding of the pharmacological and non-pharmacological interventions for spinal disorders may improve clinical results for persons with chronic pain.

Dr Bond, a '97 graduate of the National Univ. of Health Sciences, is a full-time faculty member of the University of Saint Mary and serves as co-director of research.
